THE guide to use if you want to support the smaller independent places that make staying away so much more interesting than just checking into your average chain. You will find hotels that are characterful, quirky, smart, boutique, chic and good value too, with many with rooms at £100 or less. Armed with this book you need never again stand in a bland reception waiting for your electronic key and pondering the corporate works of art.

- New to this edition – a country house hotel with all the elegant trimmings, yet completely vegetarian
- Gaze out on Nappa Scar while feasting on serious food, perhaps Whitby crab and shellfish consommé, and Yoredale lamb with fennel purée at a super cool little hotel in Yorkshire
- Sublime bedrooms dotted about town, and the beautiful Cornish coast nearby. The food's not half bad either – at Rick Sein's lively Seafood Restaurant

Interesting Stuff

- Sawday's Travel Club members (£25 per year) can recoup their investment very speedily with generous offers from the hotels and inns such as 25% off the room rate or a bottle of champagne in your room for stays of two or more nights
- Tom Bell, our trusty editor, visits over 150 hotels a year for this book meeting the owners, checking out the rooms and tucking into some of the best food in the country – a tough job
- Each entry has two colour photos and is written up by Sawday's
